What the Nervous Require.

What the nervous require more than anything else is a simple, generous, sedative diet which is easily digested by the stomach and which does not produce wakefulness. Compounds of the medicinal properties of the most valuable nervous tonics, combined with the most nutritive and easily digested forms of food, are those which we recommend as most efficacious in the treatment of nervous prostration, sleeplessness, and all those forms of nervous disease which are the result of exhaustion of the nervous system. Such a combination we have in our Wine of Coca, which is a most delicious cordial, and a most powerful nerve tonic. It is the well known medicinal properties of the Coca plant, which are so well adapted to the relief of nervous prostration, that we have added it to our Wine. We also add the Phosphates of Lime and Soda, which are the most necessary elements for the nourishment of the nervous system, and which are so deficient in the blood of persons who are nervous. Our Wine of Coca is not a stimulant, but a nutritive tonic, and may be taken by the most delicate invalid with the assurance that it will do good and not harm. We have published a pamphlet on the subject of nervous diseases, which we will send free to any address. We also prepare a Fluid Extract of Coca, for those who prefer a concentrated form of the medicine. Our Wine of Coca is sold by all druggists at $1 per bottle, or six bottles for $5. Our Fluid Extract of Coca, $1 per ounce. Prepared only by PEABODY & SAUNDERS, Druggists, Dover, N. H.

UNHAPPY DEMOCRATS.

The Democracy will not be comforted. First they had a grievance in the refusal to confirm Judge Libbey, and now they have a greater one in losing a candidate for Governor by his confirmation. The Kennebec Journal over-hauls the inconsistencies of the demoralized Argus as follows:

The Argus manifests a great deal of unhappiness over the conferring of the Judgeship upon Mr. Libbey. Its columns, which it might have been supposed would express some gratification at the elevation of a Democrat to the Bench, and acknowledge in some slight degree at least the generosity of the Republicans in conferring the office upon Mr. Libbey, have done neither the one or the other. The effect has been to increase and embitter the amount of its whines and falsehoods concerning Republicans rather than make it less. What its great grievance is, which causes it to behave in this unbecoming manner, we do not know. Mr. Libbey is certainly worthy to fill the place of Judge. The Argus will not pretend to object to him on the score of personal qualification, and yet its course is well calculated to create a suspicion that it would rather he had not been chosen to the position. Did the Argus prefer the nomination and confirmation of Mr. Strout? Or it was it opposed to any Democrat being made Judge by a Republican Administration, fearing that the act might strengthen the Republican party?

When Governor Dingley nominated Mr. Libbey, his reasons were publicly given, all of which centered as he believed, in the public interest, and was liberal and kind towards the Democratic party. Mr. Libbey had a very strong support from Republicans. A difference of opinion as to candidates, resting chiefly on local considerations, caused the failure of the Executive Council to confirm Mr. Libbey at first. At the second trial he was confirmed. No Republican paper opposed the act previous to confirmation; all have spoken in the highest terms of respect of Mr. Libbey since he was confirmed. Nowhere has there been any appearance of regret or dissatisfaction except in the columns of the Argus, where it crops out in personal bitter remarks against prominent Republicans and the Executive Council.

The feeling manifested in the Argus is not, we hope, that which pervades the Democratic party. We trust the greater portion of the party, particularly the best men in it, properly appreciate the liberality of the Republican State administration in placing Mr. Libbey upon the Bench, and do not indorse the ill-natured and narrow-minded course of the Argus. It must be extremely unpleasant to Judge Libbey to see Republicans as galled as they have been because of his advancement, and no doubt his Democratic friends feel in a similar manner about it. If it were true that the Argus fairly represents the Democracy in this matter, then we must conclude that the party is incapable of appreciating generosity in politics, and that all steps in that direction are utterly lost upon it. But we do not believe this, and expect that the Argus will be made to feel the force of the better sentiment controlling the Democracy, and desist from its libellous and unchandsome remarks about Republicans in connection with the Judgeship.

THE ATTORNEY-GENERAL.

[From the Boston Journal.]

The President's selection of Judge Edwards Pierrepont of New York as the successor of Attorney-General Williams will give general satisfaction. Even the New York Tribune, with its tendency to carp at every act of the Administration, admits that "Judge Pierrepont's professional standing is respectable, and his personal character that of an honorable and worthy gentleman." His professional standing, in fact, is considerably more than respectable, as he stands in the front rank of the profession in New York.

He is a graduate of Yale College, of the same class with Chief Justice Waite, and Mr. Evarts—a triumvirate of legal ability rarely matched out by any college in one year. One circumstance attending the appointment is perhaps worthy of mention. At a public meeting not long ago Judge Pierrepont denounced the third term idea as chimerical, and it has since been declared that that sealed all chances of his appointment to new office under the present Administration. Will these dailies now have the frankness to show how their rule works the other way?

[From the Boston Advertiser.]

Edwards Pierrepont, of New York, is the appointed successor of Attorney-General Williams, whose resignation, tendered a week ago, was accepted yesterday with regrets and compliments. Mr. Pierrepont's name has been often used in connection with public employments, but they have rarely tempted him from the active pursuit of his profession. He has long stood well among the few leaders of the bar in New York, and his influence upon public questions has been always on the side of good morals and sound principles. He is by temperament and training conservative, and his appointment at this time will be generally regarded with high favor.

Referring to the question of Hon. Eugene Hale as a probable successor to Secretary Delano, the Ellsworth American says: "We have the impression, based on Mr. Hale's past action, that he will still prefer to represent the Fifth District in Congress to accepting any higher position that may be tendered to him."

BANGOR SPELLING. A perusal of the report of our recent spelling match moves the Ellsworth American to remark:

"At the recent spelling match at Bangor, singularly short and easy words were given. Among them we noticed viscidity, irretrievably, scaramouch, phylactery, effervescence, wednesday and deamthropumorphization. These being considered too hard, it was decided to substitute the simpler and shorter words found in the vernacular of the Penobscot tribe of Indians."

A REPORTER TURNS A POINT ON FULLERTON. In the Brooklyn trial, on Tuesday, lawyer Fullerton undertook the cross-examination of a newspaper reporter named St. George, who had testified positively that he saw Tilton riding in a barouche with Tennie Claflin and Mrs. Woodhull in the Communist procession. How the lawyer thought he had entrapped the witness, and how he found himself mistaken, is related as follows:

"By dint of some carefully concentrating questions, Fullerton got from Mr. St. George that at one point of the procession's march, as it was going up Sixth avenue, he left his place opposite the van when the van was at Twentieth street, and, walking down, passed it in review to the rear, finishing as the rear reached Twenty-fourth street. "Will you please to explain," demanded Mr. Fullerton blandly, "for I think, indeed, it needs explanation, how you walked down from Twentieth street from front to rear of the procession till you got to Thirty-fourth street?" "I will," said the witness, with cheerfulness, and he explained that assistant marshals, commanded sections of the line, and whenever he came in his rearward march to an assistant marshal, he slipped into the ranks in his capacity as a reporter, to question that assistant marshal concerning the components or symbolical purposes of that marshal's particular section, not hiding the procession to do so, but walking along with his informants, making thus more headway than sternway.

A TRIANGULAR CONTEST. After eight days' session the Democratic Convention in the Ninth Congressional District of Georgia has adjourned without making a nomination, and the Atlanta Herald says that this is a proper ending of a bitter fight. There were 414 ballots cast under the old two-thirds rule, and in all of them Hon. H. P. Bell led Col. H. Hill by from five to eleven votes. The friends of the former several times proposed that both gentlemen withdraw in favor of a new man, but Hill's friends though in a minority, persistently refused. Finally, the majority recommended Col. John B. Estes as a fit person to be voted for; the Hill men protested, and the Convention adjourned. Col. Estes and Mr. Hill will stump the district until the election, which will occur on the 5th of May. A third candidate in the field is W. P. Price, and he also has taken the stump. All three are Democrats, and the result of the contest is doubtful. The Republican vote is not organized, and is at best quite small.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

THE CAPITAL "OUT OF SEASON"—CABINET RUMORS—THE ISLAND POND DECISION—SENATOR MORRILL'S HEALTH.

[FROM OUR SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT.]

WASHINGTON, April 26, 1875.

The sojourners of "the season" are gradually leaving this city of "magnificent distances," and in consequence of the said Exodus the said distances seem more and more magnificent every day; or, in other words, Washington is getting dull, because everybody is leaving. It has become very hard, even for Donn Piatt to find anything to make an item of. It is true we have daily rumors of new cabinet changes, but it will hardly answer to chronicle any of them, in a letter to the WHIG, as there would be at least two newer ones before the letter could be put in print, and the recorded one would have been forgotten. There is no doubt, however, but that Attorney General Williams will retire from the cabinet on the 15th of May, having already tendered his resignation, to take effect on that date. The names of Hon. Matt. H. Carpenter, B. F. Butler, and Judge Pierrepont, of New York, are mentioned as possible successors, with the chances strongly in favor of the last named,—so say the latest reports. There are also vague hints of a change at the Interior Department, and rumors of more investigations, but the next House of Representatives will investigate, anyway. Their only chance of continued power depends upon their success in belaboring somebody in the Republican party, in the hope that the people may draw comparisons favorable to the Democrats. They have no elements of progress or improvement in their own party, so they strive to make the people think that their opponents are more obnoxious than themselves; and thus induce them to choose the least of two evils. They have no ambition to improve their party, and, indeed, they could not if they would, with the record that lies behind them. They wish to make the Republican party appear worse rather than to make their own party better, in the hope that they may win by favorable comparison. What a policy for a great party!

THE ISLAND POND DIFFICULTY has been settled at last, at the Treasury Department, the Secretary having decided adversely to the interests of the business community. He has issued what are termed new regulations, which are, in reality, but a re-hash of those complained of, with a few objectionable features added. Under the rules which were objected to by the Board of Trade of Portland, and others in the same interest, an entry for transportation to, and immediate exportation from Portland, was required at Island Pond. This entry caused delay and involved considerable expense, over and above the cost of sending the goods to Portland under consular seal, and entering them at that port for warehouse and immediate exportation. The last manifesto of the Secretary still requires the shipper to enter his goods at Island Pond, and further adds a clause to the effect that he may, if he chooses, make another entry at Portland, and "double the cost" of expense. The Secretary of the Treasury has given the shipper a certain degree of "free moral agency,"—i. e., he can have his choice between that of which he justly complains, and practically the same thing with as much more of the same kind added thereto. It is regarded by those who are best informed in relation to the matter, as a direct blow at the commercial interests of Portland. During the past week the Department has been flooded by customs officers all along the frontier, who are looking after their perquisites in the form of profits arising from the sale of blanks, which sale yields to these collectors an average of over twelve thousand dollars per year. In addition to this influence, it is said that some of the American Railroad Companies whose extortions are prevented by the refusal of the Grand Trunk Railway to enter their arrangements to increase the rates of freight, have been represented here, during this contest. They gain an advantage by every obstacle thrown in the way of the Grand Trunk traffic, but the producer in the West and the consumer in the East, as well as the Grand Trunk Railway and the shippers, will certainly suffer by the exactions. Eminent lawyers are of the opinion that the Secretary has taken a position that he cannot maintain under the law, and one that he cannot afford to hold, against the commercial interests of the people, both of the States and the Dominion of Canada. There is a rumor that Sir Edward Thornton has just received instructions from his Government to insist upon the removal of the restrictions imposed by these last rules, claiming that they are in violation of the joint rules of the two countries under the treaty of Washington. If so, this will involve a reopening of the case, when there will be more special pleading in behalf of the frontier collectors and the New York Railroad Ring. The result is directly at variance with what those who represented the Board of Trade of Portland had reason to expect from what had been said to them at the Department previous to the swarming of the opposing interests at Washington.

SENATOR MORRILL'S ILLNESS.

The friends of Senator Morrill will be glad to learn that the recent reports of his illness are greatly exaggerated. Instead of being broken down by the labors of the past winter, his general health has not been so good for years. His recent indisposition was caused by a severe cold, arising from accidental exposure on a cold, rainy day, about two weeks ago. Owing to the cold weather that prevailed immediately after that time, he very prudently remained in the house for a few days, but has not been confined to his room. He left for home this morning in company with Surveyor True, who has also been somewhat indisposed from the same cause as the Senator. They have been waiting the settlement of the Island Pond question and started for Maine immediately after its announcement. The adverse decision of the Secretary cannot be charged to neglect on the part of any person engaged in behalf of Portland and trade interests, as Messrs. Morrill, Blaine, Lynch and True have been indefatigable in their efforts.

A BACKWARD SPRING. The season is very backward in this latitude—more so than it has been for years before. The trees are as bare of foliage as they were a month ago. The weather has now changed for the better, and everybody hopes for the pleasant balmy days which we used to hear at this season.

Springfield, Mass., has been indulging in a dog show.

A TRIBUTE OF RESPECT. The Ellsworth American pays the following warm tribute of respect to Judge Cutting on his retirement:

On Saturday last, Hon. Jonas Cutting retired from the Supreme Bench of this State, a position which he has held for twenty-one years. The integrity, learning and ability which he has always displayed in the discharge of his responsible duties, have justly entitled him to the respect of all with whom he has been associated. Full of years and honors, he will carry with him to the leisure of private life which now he has so well merited, the kind remembrances of his contemporaries, the veneration of the young, and above all the consciousness of having nobly done his duty.

VIRGINIA. The Richmond Enquirer takes a hopeful view of the present condition of the State of Virginia, and believes that if a complete account could be taken of the wealth of every resident, including ready money on hand, it would be found that, leaving the matter of slave property out of the question, the people of Virginia are better off to-day than ever before. There is plenty of money, and it is pretty evenly distributed, the poor being richer and the rich poorer. There are few men who are in business or are at work who have not a fair purse to show. Contrary to impressions prevailing in some quarters, there is little of willful idleness in the State, nearly the entire white population who are not sick, disabled, or too old and decrepid, being at work in some trade or profession. There is little dissipation, scarcely any drunkenness, much less gaming, and nothing around grog-shops. Such is the Enquirer's picture, and if it is even moderately true to the life, everybody must feel like saying, "Good for Virginia!"

MORTALITY AND DENSITY OF POPULATION. The British Registrar General has published his annual report of births, deaths and causes of death in London and twenty other large cities for 1874. Of these London is the most healthy, the death rate being only 22 per 1000, and the excess of births over deaths 44,788. It is worth noticing that the death rate advances, in almost every case, as the density of the population increases. Thus, in London there are 49 persons to each acre of space; in Edinburgh, 47; in Manchester, 82; in Liverpool, 98; in Glasgow, 100. The respective rates of mortality are: London, 22; Edinburgh, 23; Manchester, 30; Liverpool, 32; Glasgow, 31.

CONSUMPTIVES, TAKE NOTICE.

Every moment of delay makes your cure more hopeless, and much depends on the judicious choice of a remedy. The amount of testimony in favor of Dr. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, as a cure for consumption, for excess all that can be brought to support the pretensions of any other medicine. See Dr. Schenck's Almanac, containing the certificates of many persons of the highest respectability, who have been restored to health, after being pronounced incurable by physicians of acknowledged ability. Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup alone has cured many, as these evidences will show, but their cure is often promoted by the employment of two other remedies which Dr. Schenck provides for the purpose. These additional remedies are Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic and Mandrake Pills. By the timely use of these medicines, according to directions, Dr. Schenck certifies that most any case of Consumption may be cured.

Dr. Schenck will be at the Quincy House, Boston, on the following days, viz.: Feb. 9th and 23d, March 9th and 23d, April 6th and 20th, May 4th and 18th, June 15th and 29th, July 13th and 27th, Feb. 12th and 24th, and March 10th and 24th. Consultation free, but for a thorough examination of the lungs, with the advice, from other diseases, $5.

Dr. Schenck is professionally at his principal office, Corner Sixth and Arch streets, Philadelphia, every Monday, where all letters for advice must be addressed.

THE OSHKOSH FIRE.

THE TOWN FULL OF THIEVES

THE ARMY BURNED OVER.

Outline Account of the Conflagration

NEW YORK, April 29. A special gives the following additional facts of the Oshkosh fire: The high northwest blew yesterday. Here the lumber lines through Lake, Washington and Morgan streets, where the most of the lumber was, are the most exposed and crowded portions of the city. The fire spread rapidly, and carried everything before it. At half past 4 the fire had crossed Main street, and was in the rear of the Opera House block, and was fast approaching the Revere House. The Opera House was valued at $100,000; it and the Revere were both owned by Mr Leach. The Revere was valued at $150,000. Other two hundred dwellings had already been burned, and were in flames in large stores, hotels and business houses in the rear

CLEOPATRA'S MIRROR.

BY F. W. H.

You have a thousand slaves, who do
Unwillingly their duty;
And long service have for you,
To leave back your beauty;
But that one service is so sweet,
I would fill my life night and meet.

Your other slaves say you are stern,
I always see you smiling,
As from the some new grace you learn
Your letters for beguiling.
Those slaves, did they but wish as I
Your smiles, would dare thrice over to die.

Oh, would you that all lands should pass
Beneath your firm subjection!
Then, seen the world your looking-glass,
As made for your reflection.
Did you but smile on men as me,
The whole world should be bondage be.

SPRING HINTS FOR FARMERS.

Now is the time to do a hundred things upon a farm, which, if left undone, will clog and hinder all summer. Cut up and pack up the woodpile, have it all fitted for the stove and under cover within easy reach of the women folks. Rainy days may be scarce next summer, and if they are not, there will be plenty to do without sawing and splitting stove wood, and more than all that there's nothing more conducive to peace in the family, pleasant faces among the women, and good food upon the table, than a shed full of well prepared dry wood. Settle it that the ground don't open before you know it. Look after the seeds which are to be sown. Make up your mind what kinds you will use and have them ready. Pitch off to a neighbor's after a peck of seed corn or a bushel of seed when after the ground is ready, and while your team and hired man are waiting, is poor business.

Look up the tools. Clean up the old ones, repair the broken ones, and if you have got to have new ones, get them now. They won't be any cheaper a month from now, and if they should be, you can't spare the time then to go after them. As soon as the frost is out, take away the banking, and let have the rotting the sills until it becomes nearly time to remove it. Take out the cellar windows and give the air a chance to circulate through the cellar, supplying their places with wire screens to keep out cats, dogs and wind-driven leaves and dirt. Clear the rubbish off the garden as soon as the snow is gone, and have that ready to plow. Rake up leaves and dirt from the front yards before the grass starts. Repair the fences just as soon as the frost is out so you can drive a stake, and while you are about it repair them, well. The lack of a single pole or a single low place in a wall, has made many a cattle breeche, which with proper fences, would have been peaceable and all right. Remember a fence is only as strong as its weakest part, and that one poor length is often as fatal to the good behavior of stock as twenty would be.

Look closely after the stock before it leaves the barn, and especially the breeding stock. Nearly all the trouble which affect cows at the time of calving and immediately after may be prevented by proper care and feed. Feed them on cooling and loosening feed, as Shorts or roots, and keep them dry and warm and out of the sway of other cattle, and be sure the water they drink has the chill taken from it for a week after the calf comes, and don't turn the cow out to lie upon the cold damp ground even in warm days unless you want to spoil her. Breeding ewes also require dry beds, good feed and plenty of room, and the same is true of ewes which are expected to bring twins. Of the large number of pigs and lambs which are lost every year, the larger part might be saved by giving their mothers proper care and food, and it certainly is not good policy to allow a pig or a lamb, which if saved will be worth four or five dollars, to die for want of a little care.—Look over the buildings and see if any repairs must be made before fall, and if there are any, make them now.

In short, do up all the odd jobs which will need doing and which you have time for now, but which, if left undone, will press, worry and fret you by and by when your every minute is occupied. Finally make sure and clean out your cellar.—[Mirror and Farmer.

AMERICAN PATENTS.—The great improvements that have taken place in transportation, which makes it possible for the Wheat of Iowa and California to compete in the English market, with that raised on the Atlantic sea-board, and which place Iowa in competition with New England, has operated to specialize farming. The large farmer of to-day, raises fewer kinds of his farm than did the small farmer of the last century. This specialization allows the use of the higher appliances and the use of capital as the former system could not. The true farm, based on fields grown in due order, is the average. The early settlers of necessity built little small farms. The tax lists of Long Island for Queens county between the years 1675 and 1685 show that in nine English towns the average land holding was about twenty-two acres, and in the five Dutch towns about thirty-seven acres, or for the whole fourteen towns it was twenty-five and one-third acres, and at that time over ninety per cent. of the tax payers were land-holders. The national census of 1870 enumerates 2,660,000 farms, only six and a half per cent. of which were of less than ten acres, and more than half of the whole number contained over fifty acres.—The cash value of the farms, implements, and live stock was placed at upward of $11,300,000, and the total estimated value of all the farm production at about $2,445,000. Of the 12,500,000 persons engaged in all classes of occupations, 6,000,000 were engaged in agriculture. We have absolutely no statistics of the agriculture of the colonies at the time of the Revolution; therefore the actual figures of progress can not be given, and we refrain from estimates.—[Prof. W. H. Brewer in Harper's Magazine for May.

CARE OF TABLE KNIVES.—Table knives should be thoroughly cleaned or polished at least once a day, and the best time, perhaps, is after dinner, as then the morning's work is finished or should be, and more time may be given, and secondly, if circumstances have to be followed getting a second or ten set, there will be in good condition when company comes.

The best material for scouring that I have found is soft brick, such as may be purchased at the stores, used with a flannel rag and a little soft soap if the blades are in a bad condition. A small potato with fine and cut off is good for this purpose, as it furnishes sufficient moisture and the juice assists in removing stains.

Where the knives have got rusty by neglect rub the blades over thoroughly with sweet oil; allow this to remain as long as possible, a day or so at least, then rub the steel with finely powdered unslaked lime or pumice stone. To keep them from rusting when not in daily use, dry them thoroughly and roll up in a flannel cloth and keep it in a dry place.—Household.

WOULD YOU.—Would you keep your rosy complexion, wear thick soled shoes. Would you enjoy quiet content, do away with airs and pretenses.

Would you have others respect your opinions, hold and never cower them yourself.

Would you have good health, go out in the shinshine. Sickness is worse than freckles.

Would you respect yourself, keep your heart and body clean.

Would you retain the love of a friend, do not be selfishly exacting.

Would you gain the confidence of business men, do not try to support the style of your employer.

Would you never be told a lie, do not ask personal questions.

Would you sleep well and have a good appetite, attend to your own business.

Would you have the respect of men, never permit yourself to indulge in vulgar conversation.

GILES'
LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA.

A MESSAGE TO THE SUFFERING.

When a remedy is productive of such relief as to excel all other remedies in its curative results, it is a duty to make it known as generally as possible. This consideration has actuated the proprietor, Wm. M. Giles, to bring before the public his LINIMENT IODIDE AMMONIA.

The remarkable cures it has effected classes it as one of the most important and valuable remedies ever discovered for the cure and relief of pain in any form. It cures Neuralgia, Face Ache, Rheumatism, Gout, Frosted Feet, Chilblains, Sore Throat, Erysipelas, Bruises and Wounds of every nature, in which the effects of external applications are almost magical, and to which its internal administration is found to be most efficacious. Physicians prescribe it for their patients and record it their unhesitating approval as an invaluable discovery.

The LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA is an essential appointment in all well regulated stables, as it when large numbers of horses are provided for, and where there is liability to the validation of a class of epidemic diseases for which this preparation is a recognized remedy. No stable should be without it, for no stable can really be deemed safe that is not supplied with it.

We append a few of the many testimonials bearing testimony to the universal favor in which this medicine has been received by the public.

Testimonials.

Dear Giles: Your Liniment Iodide of Ammonia gave immediate relief from the most excruciating pain in my limbs and joints, and I found no relief until I tried your LINIMENT IODIDE AMMONIA, which brought me relief. Am now cured. ROBERT H. SMITH,
Head Doorman on board Steamer Glass Hope.

GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA is a sure cure for sore feet. Use it, and remove all swellings and lumps. ANXIOUS MOTHER.

NEW HAVEN, Aug. 7, 1874.

DR. GILES:—While on duty as fireman on engine 42, on 4 & 7th inst., from this city, on New Haven Line, was accidentally thrown off against a rock, from which I received a bruised thigh, the effect of which was very painful. A friend applied your LINIMENT IODIDE AMMONIA, from which I received the greatest possible benefit. In four days I was able to do my work, and in a fortnight was completely cured. My aged mother also used the Liniment for a rheumatic affection, and it cured. JOHN GAFFNEY.

BARNUM'S HYPODERMIC.—We have never found anything equal to Giles' Liniment Iodide of Ammonia. Bruises, wounds, sprains, lameness, pain in the joints, muscles, swellings, immediately disappear. It is just what we long wanted, and we now use it in preference to all other compounds of Europe and America. I have never met with anything like it. T. B. WOODS,
Veterinary Surgeon, Barnum's Hippodrome.

NEW YORK, June 14.

MR. WM. M. GILES, Chemist:—Since your discovery, LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA, surpasses anything of the kind in existence. In the knee or shoulder, for chilblains, it is well. I speak well of it on the job, and it is truly a wonderful. Yours very truly, RALPH OGDEN,
Veterinary Surgeon, 548 West 22d St.

BOSTON, Sept. 14, 1874.

MR. WM. M. GILES:—In the match between the Athletics of Philadelphia and Atlantics of Boston, on July 1st, 1874, at Boston, I fell and displaced my left knee cap. Your agent S. Hunter happened to be there, and he instantly applied your Liniment, and I felt no further pain. HARRY G. SHAFFER, Boston Base Ball Club.

BOSTON, Sept. 14, 1874.

MR. WILLIAM M. GILES, Chemist:—Dear Sir—Your Agent, Mr. Guy S. Pearson, called in my office to introduce your Liniment Iodide of Ammonia. Being a skeptic in regard to the great variety of remedies put in the market for the cure of diseases, I had to falter in your behalf, but, after a long talk with your agent, I occurred to me to try it. I took a sound wash rag, saturated it with a little of your Liniment, and applied it to my neck. In three minutes I was free from pain, and I do honestly believe it would remove that bunch, I would try it, I suppose, for a week, but it very quickly disappeared. I will be your friend, and now tell all I can of its merits. I think it will shortly disappear entirely from the stand of your remedy. I cheerfully recommend it to any one suffering as I was, be it a horse or horses afflicted in this way. I would further say, I was walking. After the accident the same horse started at the bunch on the offing, the Liniment was applied there briskly, and the bunch has all disappeared. J. H. HATHORNE,
Proprietor of Colonial Line Coaches.
